

An aerial photograph of a large, vibrant yellow field, likely a rapeseed or sunflower field. The field is divided into several sections by dark, winding lines representing roads or tracks. In the center of the field, there is a large, stylized logo consisting of two overlapping, rounded shapes that form a continuous 'S' or 'SS' pattern. The logo is a slightly darker shade of yellow than the surrounding field. The overall scene is captured from a high angle, showing the geometric patterns of the field and the surrounding landscape, which includes some greenery and a road on the left side.

BUSTY TAYLOR 2003

An aerial photograph of a large, vibrant yellow field, likely a crop field. The field is divided into sections by dark, winding lines, possibly roads or irrigation channels. In the center of the field, there is a large, stylized logo consisting of two overlapping, rounded shapes that form a continuous 'S' or 'SS' pattern. The overall scene is captured from a high angle, showing the geometric patterns of the field and the surrounding landscape, which includes some greenery and a road on the left side.

BUSTY TAYLOR 2003

An aerial photograph of a large, rectangular yellow field, possibly a rice paddy, with a large, stylized 'S' logo in the center. The field is divided into sections by dark lines, likely furrows or paths. The surrounding area is dark, suggesting a road or a different type of terrain.

BUSTY TAYLOR 2003

